Enviro Torch (Dynamo Flashlight) Cost: $29.95

Move aside, Energiser bunny, your services are no longer required. The battery industry will be shaking in its boots thanks to this environmentally friendly torch that doesn't require batteries. Simply crank up the pull-out arm on the flashlight, wind it in the same direction for a minute (sounds eerily like a dentist's drill when you really put some muscle into it), and you have 20 minutes of bright light shining from its three LEDs. It's silver and black with a comfortable hand grip and is as light as a feather.

Compact Canopy $399 (available in September)

THIS "canopy in a suitcase" Aussie creation is about to revolutionise camping adventures. We all know how mundane setting up camp can be but this portable pearler offers instant shelter that's simple to set up. It can be tossed in the boot or trailer and once you hit the camp site, just wheel it out, remove from its carry case, follow basic directions and its telescopic-style fold up/fold down set-up means it quickly transforms into a 3m by 3m roof over your head, minus the walls.
